

A Day in Grandpa's Home

(Written by Wong Ka Man, 5A)

Last Sunday, Mum asked me to go to Grandpa's home to help him because Grandpa was sick.

In the past, we used to do all the housework together. For example, cooking a meal, folding clothes, and sweeping the floor. Now, Grandpa couldn't do them by himself because he was sick and felt tired. He could only take a rest in bed. Therefore, I helped him hand up the washing and cook a meal. Grandpa praised me that I was a good girl.

I heard the sound of breaking glass. Grandpa dropped the glass because he felt dizzy. He couldn't hold the glass well, so the glass was dropped. After dropping the glass, Grandpa said, 'I am so sorry, Ivy. I am so careless that I break the glass. I promise that it won't happen again. I answered him, 'It doesn't matter, Grandpa. Be careful of your legs.' Then, I helped him clean the glass and wipe the water off the floor.

I saw my Grandpa was Hurt. I was worried about him, so I took him to the hospital to see a doctor. The doctor told us that Grandpa needed to rest well and not do any housework. Also, he needed to change the bandage and wash the wound every day. When my grandpa got home, I helped him change the bandage and wash the wound. I cooked dinner for him. I have learned the ways to take care of people when they need our help.

A Day in Grandpa's Home

(Written by Ng Chun Fai Eric, 5B)

Last Sunday, Mum asked me to take care of Grandfather because he got a terrible headache. My mum and I felt worried about him, but he lived in Central, so I had to take the bus and the MTR to visit him.

In the past, my grandpa used to do housework by himself. Now he had a headache. I had to help him hang the laundry. I asked Grandpa to go to the bedroom to rest.

When Grandpa returned to his bedroom, he found it was time to take his medicine. He first wanted to drink some water. Then he grabbed his glass. Suddenly, he dropped his glass on the floor. It shattered into pieces. I heard the sound of breaking glass. Then I rushed into the room with a broom and cleaned the mess as fast as possible. When I looked at Grandpa's knee, it was bleeding. I felt anxious. Grandpa asked me to calm down, so I got a plaster to cover the wound. Grandpa praised me that I did well.

Finally, I went back home and told my mom what I did at Grandpa's home. Mum praised me for being a good girl.

Last Sunday, I have learnt that I need to calm down when I have problems.

A Journal

(Written by Ho Man Sin Elis, 5C)

Sunday / Sunny / 12th July 2022.

Dear Diary,

In the afternoon, Mum suddenly asked me, "Can you go to Grandpa's house, please?" Oh! My grandpa got sick by having a high fever. After my mum told me that, I nervously walked to Grandpa's house.

In Grandpa's house, I saw him doing the laundry. I helped him immediately. I helped him put the dirty clothes in the washing machine. Grandpa told me he used to wash her clothes with his hands. Now he uses a washing machine. It is more convenient. After washing, I tried to hand the laundry up, but I wasn't tall enough. I tipped-toe to reach the hanger. Grandpa laughed at me when he saw it.

After a while, Grandpa went back to his room because he felt dizzy. He dropped his cup on the floor when he wanted to eat some medicine alone with a cup of water. His feet got a lot of deep cuts. He was trembling quickly. I rushed into Grandpa's room as fast as I could.

Luckily, Grandpa was okay after having treatment at the hospital. I comforted him and told him that he didn't need to do any surgery. From this incident, I believed that Grandpa would be more careful next.

From,

Ivy

A Day in Grandpa's Home

(Written by Ho Cheuk Ying, 5D)

What a shame last Sunday! That day, Grandpa was sick, so Mum wanted me to take care of him. She said, 'Can you bring a glass of water to Grandpa?' I said, 'Okay.'

I went to the kitchen and got a cup for Grandpa. I said, 'Grandpa, let me take a glass of water for you. Then I will dry your clothes.' Grandpa nodded.

Suddenly, I heard the sound of some breaking glass. Grandpa broke a glass that looked like my designer's glass! He felt very anxious and frightened because the cup was worth a lot of money. I ran through the room to the kitchen right away. I took a good look at Grandpa, and he said, 'I am fine.' I cleared the pieces of glass on the floor and took another cup of water for him. We then chatted happily in the living room.

After today, I have learned not to be too impulsive and be gentle to everyone around me.

A Day in Grandpa's Home

(Written by Cheung Chin Ming, 5E)

What a momentous day!

This morning, Mum asked me to visit Grandpa because he got a fever. Since Mum had to take care of my baby brother, I went to Grandpa's home alone.

When I got there, Grandpa was washing the clothes. I said, "Grandpa, you are sick. You need to take some rest. Let me help you." I did a lot of chores for him, such as hanging the washing, sweeping the floor, and washing the dishes.

When I was doing the housework, I heard a loud sound from Grandpa's bedroom. He dropped a glass. There were a lot of shards on the ground. Grandpa felt so sick and shivered.

I immediately gave him another glass of water and some medicine. Luckily, he felt better then. I used to play online games at the weekend, but I had a meaningful offline weekend today. I felt pleased.